The Healing Power of a HOME

While the Fraziers were visiting Washington they were in a major car accident that hospitalized Jacob. Their vehicle was completely destroyed and ultimately they were left on the street in an unfamiliar town. With the help of AM and our partners, the Fraziers were able to move into a tiny home shelter during their initial healing process and after the birth of their son. Eventually, they found a more permanent solution through AM's Rapid Rehousing team.

According to the Fraziers: "We still have a little way to go, but the path is clear. We set goals and have a clean safe home for our baby boy and ourselves. We know our way and we know we will achieve what we set out to accomplish now! We can't express how much easier this healing process is now and how happy and healthy our little guy is now that he's HOME!"

Some of the stories we share about those who come to AM for help are still works in progress, but we have learned that celebrating in all stages of a story is important. We are our clients' biggest cheerleaders! Wins are wins even when the end of the story has not yet been reached! The Fraziers have begun a new chapter in their story. In spite of medical issues and COVID challenges, creative solutions fueled by dedicated partners like you allow us to continue supporting families like the Fraziers.

Thank you for your continued partnership that allows AM to find new and innovative solutions to homelessness!
